Morrisville, Vt.

Entered at the Postoffice, Morrisville, Vt., as second-class matter

The road to this part of Lamoille county via Cambridge is now opened up, a slight detour still necessary until the bridge at Jeffersonville is rebuilt. It is a fine piece of work and in a short time will be as good a road as there is in the state.

The four aspirants for sheriff of this county have filed their petitions for voting at the primary. It is up to you, men and women voters, to say which you want. Is it a continuance of the old regime or a new deal? Use your judgment as to which will serve the county best.

The fair at Sherbrooke is now on. It is always a big affair and has liberal patronage from this side of the line. We have no doubt it will have a larger percentage than ever from Vermont, as the management extensively advertised the fair in northern Vermont papers. Those Canadians also know "it pays to advertise."

The Bullards are doing good work in rebuilding the dam at North Hyde Park. Heretofore there has been an excellent water power there and in rebuilding the dam a power that has been idle a number of years will be reclaimed, thus insuring the continuance and increasing of industries in that thriving village.

The democrats of Lamoille county will not make any list of candidates for any of the county offices, but will let the space allotted to them on the primary ballot remain blank. Later, however, they contemplate a mass convention, at which a party ticket will be selected and that will be printed on the ballot to be voted in November.

To those who think our home papers are not read by others, we quote the St. Johnsbury Caledonian: "Senator Page's advertisement in all the state papers, 'Send Us Your Bones,' refers to his hide house, not his bank. Bones sent to the bank draw interest, compounded semi-annually; but bones sent to the hide house show up in fertilizer."

The Rutland Herald does not get any great credit to itself by slamming the Hon. Martin S. Vilas, three times senator from Chittenden county, and if we mistake not the "consensus of opinion" will be senator for the fourth time. Senator Vilas is strongly urged to be a candidate again and it is not of his own volition that he consents, but at the urgent solicitation of may. He will undoubtedly be again elected and, as heretofore, will prove a valuable member—in spite of the Herald's billingsgate.
